CUT TO:

5A INT. JENA'S LIVING-ROOM-DAY

5A *

Lily sits on the couch draped in a cover watching TV. Lily's black hoodie slumps over a pair blue ripped jeans. She sips from a flask filled with tequila. Lily writes in her black red lip printed journal turning the pages looking at old poems and pieces carved out in the book. After a moment of happiness turns to disgust when a old photo of Lily's Mother is shown tucked into a page. Lily rages by scratching over the poetry written in the journal with a black pen. Moments later, Lily drunkenly snores loudly as the TV watches her deeply sleeping. Jena burst through the front door with a ticket in hand.

She rushes straight to Lily whose knocked out on the couch. Jena shakes Lily to wake her, Lily opens both eyes in confusion.

LILY:
What? Wait, huh.

JENA:
Lily! Lily? Girl wake up!

Jena wears urgency in her eyes.

LILY:
Yeah, Jena. What's wrong?

Jena hands Lily the ticket.

JENA:
Girl, your car was about to get towed! I just flirted my ass off to the parking-officer. Begging him not to tow "my car" aka "Your car!"

Lily rubs her face wiping away the fog of sleep.

JENA: (CONT'D)
Yeah, Lily you gotta get up and park in the back near the alley. Come on, get up!

Lily closes the black red lip printed journal open on her lap then stumbles to stand. She takes car keys out of her small black with white polka-dot backpack then rushes out the door.
