"Death of a Salesman"
by Arthur Miller

Audition Monologue: Linda Loman (page 75) "Biff! I'm so glad you called."

LINDA: Hello? Oh, Biff! I'm so glad you called, I just ... Yes, sure, I just told him. Yes, he'll be there for dinner at six o'clock, I didn't forget. Listen, I was just dying to tell you. You know that little rubber pipe I told you about? That be connected to the gas heater? I finally decided to go down the cellar this morning and take it away and destroy it. But it's gone! Imagine? He took it away himself, it isn't there! She listens. When? Oh, then you took it. Oh-nothing, it's just that I'd hoped he'd taken it away himself. Oh, I'm not worried, darling, because this morning be left in such high spirits, it was like the old days! I'm not afraid any more.

Did Mr. Oliver see you? . . . Well, you wait there then. And make a nice impression on him, darling. Just don't perspire too much before you see him. And have a nice time with Dad. He may have big news too! ... That's right, a New York job. And be sweet to him tonight, dear. Be loving to him. Because he's only a little boat looking for a harbor. She is trembling with sorrow and joy. Oh, that's wonderful, Biff, you'll save his life. Thanks, darling. Just put your arm around him when he comes into the restaurant. Give him a smile. That's the boy ... Good-by, dear . . . You got your comb? ... That's fine. Good-by, Biff dear. ·
